The Constitutional Law of Policing: Dispelling Myths and Misinformation

Hosted by the Harrison County LE Training Academy, Mississippi

April 12-13, 2021

Course Duration: 16 hours

Max. Number of Students: 30

Instructional Setting: Classroom

Instructor(s): Zachary Miller, BS; Certified Police Instructor;
LE Legal Instructor specializing in Federal Constitutional Law; Published Author in Law and Order Magazine

Description: This highly interactive and challenging class will bring the law of policing into sharper focus, clearing the underbrush of myths and misinformation. The Fourth and Fifth Amendment will be demystified and students will leave with a much clearer sense of the outer bounds of police legal authority. Also included in the course will be a discussion of relevant state constitutional provisions, to the extent they deviate from the federal constitutional standard. Student learning will be facilitated through scenario-based discussions and an engaging instructor-led presentation.

Topics include:

- Case Law
- Officer Citizen Contacts
- Reasonable Suspicion
- Probable Cause
- Vehicle Stops and Searches
- Forced Entry into Private Premises
- Plain View Seizure
- Miranda Warnings and Waivers
- The Right to Silence
- The Right to Counsel

INSTRUCTIONAL GOAL: The foundation of effective policing is a solid understanding of the scope of police legal authority. Exceeding the scope of legal authority can lead to civil and criminal liability, the suppression of critical evidence, and the loss of public trust and confidence. But failing to utilize the full breadth of police authority can often inhibit effective investigation. Knowing where the legal boundaries are will make an officer a more confident and successful criminal investigator.
